

Launch of 'Induction to Hall of Fame' to recognize outstanding senior chartered accountants

In yet another pioneering effort, the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Sri Lanka will launch the 'Induction to Hall of Fame' recognition which aims to appreciate senior chartered accountants who have made an outstanding contribution towards the development of the institute, the profession and society in general.

The event slated to be an annual event will recognize senior members of the Institute of good standing over the age of 65 years, who have been recognized at the highest level and whose efforts reflect the institute's core values.

The Institute believes that it is imperative to recognize its most senior and esteemed members during their present lifetime rather than afterwards, and hence the decision to launch the Induction to Hall of Fame recognition.

The national accounting body has meanwhile commenced accepting nominations for the Induction to Hall of Fame and the closing date for nominations will be 15th of September 2011.

A special committee will evaluate the nominations and make their finalized recommendations to the Institute's council, following which the council will make a final decision based on the special committee findings.

The recipients of the "Induction to Hall of Fame" will be announced in October, and will be invited to attend a prestigious ceremony where the recipients will be presented with a specially-designed award.
